Dave: Oh hello, Marjorie, it's me, Uncle Dave.

Marjorie: Hello Uncle Dave, I know it's you, I always know your voice on the phone!

Dave: How are you?

Marjorie: I'm good, thanks. I'm just sitting outside having a cup of coffee.

Dave: Oh, nice. Is the sun shining?

Marjorie: Yes, it's sunny and warm here.

Dave: And what's Alice doing? Is she studying hard?

Marjorie: She is. She's actually doing homework. She's in the dining area at the moment.
Doing math!

Dave: Oh, good. Doesn't she do her homework in her bedroom?

Marjorie: No. She can't work in her room, because there's a TV there!

Dave: Oh yes! And how is your brother?

Marjorie: Gerry? He's great.

Dave: Is he doing his homework too?

Marjorie: No, he's taking a shower now. He finished his homework a few minutes ago.

Dave: Oh, OK. Is your dad there?

Marjorie: He is, but he's busy. He's in the kitchen.

Dave: What?! He's not cooking, is he?

Marjorie: No, he isn't cooking! He's fixing the sink.

Dave: So, who's going to cook dinner today?

Marjorie: Grandpa is. He's at the store. He's buying steak and potatoes.

Dave: OK, well, everyone's busy. Say hello to them all from me.

Marjorie: OK, Uncle Dave, thanks for calling. See you soon!
