L Read the information leaflet. Circle True or False for each statement.

Every February, the association of girl guides and girl scouts holds World Thinking Day (WTD) to celebrate international friendship and to study and appreciate other cultures. Another important feature is to speak about global change across 150 different countries. You can download a useful information pack from the website.

At the Our Cabaña center in Mexico, there is a special World Thinking Day program. Young women can stay for 8 nights and be involved in the World Thinking Day celebrations. Included in the price is a fantastic trip to explore the rich culture and traditions and wild nature in the Cuernavaca nature reserve (which means "near the woods") in the far south of Mexico. The price includes all transportation and meals, as well as a special badge and any project materials. All this for only $1,100 USD. Two things you have to take if you aren't a girl guide is your own food and sleeping bag.

For more information, go to our website. If you're not a girl guide or girl scout, or if you are a boy, check if your local organization celebrates WTD too!

M Read the article about last names. Circle True or False for each statement.

Your last name comes from your parents, right? But did you know that about 1000 years ago, there were not many people with a last name? That's amazing.

Most people now have at least one first name and a last name, so where do our last names come from?

Some names relate to places, so we think that is where people came from or whose names come from geographical features. For example, a person with the name William York probably lived in the city of York. The British Royal Family's last name is Windsor because they lived and still live in the town of Windsor. Also, a person whose last name is Cliff probably lived near a cliff, or someone named Rivers, probably lived near a river or traveled on a river. Other last names may relate to jobs. So, Tom Baker probably means there was a baker in his family in the past. And the same for last names like Cook, Gardener and Smith. Then there are others that clearly mean "the son of" such as: Jackson (son of Jack), Johnson (son of John). The ending "-ez" in Spanish means "son of", so Hernandez means the son of Hernando and so on. Can you think of anyone famous with these names?

It's interesting to find out more about the history of your family's last name. Where can you go to do this? The first place is on the Internet, of course. But remember to ask your parents and grandparents and also check out your local library. Once you have some names for your family tree, it's a good idea to use a free website online to write down all the names. Sometimes you find out some amazing connections with famous people. So, maybe you have someone famous in your family! What are you waiting for?
