VACATION OR EDUCATION?

A family of three people decided to go on vacation. There's nothing strange there. Sara and Jorge Miller decided to take their 15-year-old daughter, Judy, on a one-year long vacation. Judy thought it was amazing. "Wow, no school," she said. Her mom took along all her books, and gave her lessons, so Judy had a lot of studying to do. Judy knew it was no vacation!

They decided to travel 2500 miles across the United States. They followed the I-80 route from San Francisco, California to Teaneck, New Jersey. On September 1, they drove slowly and looked at their beautiful country. They visited lots of interesting places and also important monuments. The I-80 route is famous. At Salt Lake City, they stopped and saw the awesome Leonardo Museum, which is a museum of art, technology, creativity and science. The family drove through Wyoming, and Sara loved the Natural Corrales Archeological Site in Superior. It was really amazing because she loves history. They explored a place made of volcanic lava. Then they drove far north, and Judy ran to the top of Marblehead Lighthouse! It's 15 meters tall! She won the race with her father and she felt so proud. Her father was very tired! At the top, they looked at the beautiful water of Lake Erie. On the other side of the lake was Canada but they didn't see it because it was far away and the weather wasn't very good.

They finally arrived in NJ on July 31. They explored the city for a few days then they drove back home to San Francisco for 43 hours, non-stop. It was time to start the school vacation at last. Judy was happy because she had fun out of school, but she missed her classmates. She said, "My friends weren't with me, but I had my parents and they're great too!"
