B Circle the correct answers to complete the conversation.

Luis What are you doing, Emily?

Emily I'm cleaning the house. We have so much ¹*fancy / useful / useless* stuff!

Luis Really? Like what? Hey! Don't throw my computer games away! They're ²*damaged / in good condition / used*. Look, this one is ³*brand new / fancy / plain*. I haven't even played it yet.

Emily All right. But how about the two bikes in the garage? They're both ⁴*plain / damaged / useful*, and you haven't gone for a bike ride for years!

Luis Hmm. OK. But look at this bicycle wheel. It could be ⁵*useful / modern / common* one day, right?

Emily I don't think so. Now, what are we going to do with this old laptop? It's completely ⁶*modern / special / outdated*, so no one is going to want it. People want ⁷*plain / damaged / modern* computers these days.

THE BENEFITS OF LIFE WITHOUT TV

In 2014, Kate and Bill Moser left their jobs in Los Angeles and moved to a small town in the Midwest. They started a family and had two children. There's nothing very special about that, but the Moser family is a little unusual — they haven't owned a TV since they moved. The children have never seen a TV show except at friends' houses. Interestingly, no one in the family even wants a TV. But why? Bill Moser explains.

We haven't had a TV in a long time, and we don't miss it at all. Here's why:

1. We've saved money because we don't pay a cable company, and our kids don't see commercials for toys and fancy clothes. Our little boy, Mikey, loves to repair damaged things he finds in the yard. He has already made two toy trains and a car out of trash.
2. Have you heard that the average American spends over five hours watching TV every day? We have a lot more time now that we're not watching TV. In fact, we've never read so many books!
3. My wife and I haven't had to go to the doctor's office for two years. That's because we spend most of our free time outdoors — hiking, cycling, and playing with our kids. I've already lost some weight!
4. Our children have never eaten pizzas, burgers, chips, candy, or any junk food because they don't see any commercials for it. Also, we have more time to cook, so we try new healthy recipes together.
5. I think we might be a little smarter now, too. Some studies have shown that watching TV can change the way your brain works. Kids who watch a lot of TV when they're very young often start speaking later.

All good reasons to turn off the TV!
