

Unit Quiz 10B

Presenter: Good morning, everyone. My name is Myra Dominguez, and I'm here in New York at the Young Inventors' Convention. The atmosphere here today is buzzing and the place is bursting with young people with lots of great ideas and enthusiasm. Let's see what they have to say about the inventions on display.

Hi, good morning. What do you think of the convention?

Girl: It's all amazing. I really like the booth that's dedicated to umbrellas. There are some really crazy ideas.

Presenter: Oh, yeah, I saw that on the website, but I haven't checked it out. I should have looked for it earlier. What did you like about it?

Girl: They have this umbrella for dogs which is great. The umbrella part is attached to the leash so that you can take your dog for a walk even when it's raining. Then there's a body umbrella which covers your whole body. You'd think it would be difficult to walk with this, but it just sort of surrounds your body without touching it.

Presenter: Amazing. I could have used something like that during the storm yesterday. Thanks for your time.

Excuse me. Are you enjoying the day?

Boy: Hi there. Yes! There's so much. I think the anti-theft lunch bags are hilarious.

Presenter: The what?!

Boy: They're clear plastic bags that you put your lunch food in. They're really clever because on the outside there are green spots that look like mold. The idea is that nobody who saw that would want to steal your lunch. How cool is that!!

Presenter: Very clever.

Boy: I also love the slippers that have LED lights in the front of them. I think that's such a great idea. You know, you wake up at night but you don't want to turn the light on. Headlights for your feet!

Presenter: Very ingenious!
